The editors wish to thank the two anonymous readers for their invaluable comments and advice. Specific portions of the book, as well as its overall structure, benefitted significantly from their observations and suggestions. We also thank the staff at Berghahn, in particular Commissioning Editor Mark Stanton and Production Editor Charlotte Mosedale, for their patience and support in bringing the project to fruition. The contributing authors have helped us broaden our critical and cinematic horizons in pleasantly unexpected ways. It has been instructive to work together. We are grateful to Rose Lowder for kindly permitting the use of a series of frames from her 1994 film Bouquet 4 on the book cover.

My thanks to Richard Twine, Tom Tyler, Bob McKay, and Silke Panse for tips, references and suggestions along the way. – Anat Pick

I want to thank my family – Mark, Agatha, and Willem – for their love and support as I have worked on this volume. Most of all, thank you to Mark for stepping into the domestic void I occasionally leave when writing. – Guinevere Narraway
