

Contents

Preface Chris Hann	vii
Introduction. Work and Ethics in Anthropology Chris Hann	1
Chapter 1. The Meaning of “Free” Work: Service as a Gift, and Labor as a Commodity for Ni-Vanuatu Labor Migrants Rachel E. Smith	27
Chapter 2. On the Meanings of Pleasure: Work, Ethics, and Freedom in the Hunza Valley Katherine J. L. Miller	49
Chapter 3. Ethics of Work and Freedom in the Argentinean Andes: Value Creation and Virtuous Self-Crafting through Miniature Production Olivia Angé	70
Chapter 4. Pursuing Pleasure at Work: Friendship and Precarity at North Indian Call Centers Akanksha Awal	89
Chapter 5. More Than Money: Work as Self-Realization in Accra’s Private Media Anna-Riikka Kauppinen	108
Chapter 6. Capitalism, Overwork, and Polanyi’s Dialectics of Freedom: Emerging Visions of Work–Life Balance in Contemporary Urban China Gonçalo Santos, Yichen Rao, Jack L. Xing, and Jun Zhang	132

Chapter 7. From Freedom to Loaf to Freedom to Work: The Late Socialist Countermovement and Liberalization from Below in Yugoslavia Ivan Rajković	158
Chapter 8. Max Weber’s Heirs? Work and Ethics among Small Business Owners in East Germany Sylvia Terpe	182
Chapter 9. Click for Work: Rethinking Freedom through Online Work Distribution Platforms Ilana Gershon and Melissa Cefkin	201
Chapter 10. Unicorn-Makers Working for Freedom (and Monopolies): The Work of Venture Capital Investors Johannes Lenhard	221
Chapter 11. Individuality, Teamwork, and Work Processes in a Financial Services Center in Germany Magdalena Dąbkowska	240
Chapter 12. Writing without Fear—or Bylines: Freedom and Frustration among US American Ghostwriters Deborah A. Jones	258
Afterword Gerd Spittler	278
Index	285