

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Note on Transliteration and Transcription	ix
Glossary	x
PART I: UNITY AND ‘BROTHERHOOD’
1 Introduction	3
Historical Framework	5
Muslim Arab Sudanese: Labels and Definitions	7
Framing Difference: Ethnicity, Inequality, and Mobility	9
Positioning and the Production of Knowledge	20
Scope of the Book	24
2 Being Sudanese in Cairo	27
Centuries of Migration: Sudanese in Egypt, Egyptians in Sudan	28
Contemporary Sudanese Migration and Forced Migration to Egypt	31
Sudanese in Cairo: Urban Geography	33
Displacement and Resentment	46
PART II: MODERNITY AND OTHERNESS
3 Creating Foreigners, Becoming Exiles	53
Competing Nationalisms in a United Nile Valley	54
Borders and Citizens	61
Gender, Egyptian Statecraft, and Sudanese Transnationalism	67
Creating Refugees	70
Becoming ‘Others’	74
4 Presenting Sudanese Differences	77
Muslim Arab Sudanese-ness	79

PART III: NEITHER ‘BROTHERS’ NOR ‘OTHERS’

5 Muslim Arab Adab and Sudanese Ethnicity	97
Adab as a Discursive and Cultural Concept	98
Gender and Propriety	102
Sudanese Gender Roles and Adab in Cairo: Ideal and Real	104
Adab in the Community	112
6 A Sudanese ‘Culture of Exile’ in Cairo	121
Community Mobilization: Circumstances and Strategies	123
Taking Muslim Arab Sudanese Identity Public: Adab and Community	132
Exile and Change: a ‘New Sudan’?	141
Imagining Sudan in Exile	147
7 Gender, Diaspora, and Transformation	151
Gender and Displacement in Cairo	153
Challenging Adab /Transforming Gender	157
Sudanese in Cairo, Sudanese in the Diaspora	161
The Dialectic of Sudanese Ethnicity	166
Conclusion: Ambiguous Ethnicity	167
Bibliography	171
Index	179