

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Florenzia Belvedere was formerly a Project Manager and Acting Director with the Community Agency for Social Enquiry (CASE) in Johannesburg and currently works as a freelance consultant.

Lee Anne de la Hunt is Legal Adviser to the Minister of Home Affairs in South Africa and an admitted Attorney of the High Court of South Africa. She is currently on leave from the University of Cape Town where she held the position of Associate Professor and Director of UCT Law Clinic in the Law Faculty of the University of Cape Town, South Africa.

Guy Goodwin-Gill is a Senior Research Fellow at All-Souls College and formerly Professor of International Refugee Law at the University of Oxford in the United Kingdom. He is also a barrister with Blackstone Chambers in London.

Jacob van Garderen is head of the Strategic Litigation Unit of Lawyers for Human Rights in South Africa. He is an Advocate of the High Court of South Africa and was formerly coordinator of the Refugee and Migrants Rights Project of Lawyers for Human Rights.

Jeff Handmaker is lecturer in development, human rights and governance at the Institute of Social Studies in The Hague and is a sessional lecturer in refugee law at the School of Law, University of the Witwatersrand. He was formerly a coordinator (1996–2000) of the Refugee Rights Project at Lawyers for Human Rights, South Africa.

Frankie Jenkins is a law adviser to the South African Parliament and was formerly a researcher with the Human Rights Committee in Cape Town.

William Kerfoot is an attorney at the Legal Resources Centre, Cape Town, South Africa.

Jonathan Klaaren is Professor of Law and Director of the Mandela Institute in the School of Law at the University of the Witwatersrand, South Africa. He teaches immigration and refugee law and has published extensively in the areas of citizenship and immigration as well as administrative and constitutional law.

Loren Landau is Director of the Forced Migration Studies Programme at the University of the Witwatersrand, South Africa.

Victoria Mayer is an admitted Attorney of the High Court of South Africa, a qualified clinical psychologist and an independent consultant, based in Cape Town.

Helen Moffett is an Honorary Research Fellow at the African Gender Institute and a member of the editorial board of the journal Feminist Africa.

Dosso Ndessomin is a journalist, chairperson of the Coordinating Body of Refugee Communities (CBRC) and bilingual administrative officer with the International Federation of Building and Wood Workers. He was formerly director of Alliance Française Soweto in Johannesburg.

Piers Pigou is Director of the South African History Archive. He was formerly advocacy officer with the Zimbabwe Refugee Rights Project at Themba Lesizwe in Pretoria and Project Manager with the Community Agency for Social Enquiry (CASE) in Johannesburg.

Christopher Sprigman is Associate Professor of Law at the University of Virginia. He was formerly a Lecturer in Law at the University of the Witwatersrand and law clerk for Justice L.W.H. Ackermann, Constitutional Court of South Africa.

Nahla Valji is a Project Manager with the Centre for the Study of Violence and Reconciliation (CSV) in Johannesburg and the Managing Editor of the International Journal of Transitional Justice. She was formerly Gender Project Officer at the Centre for Human Rights, Pretoria.