

List of Illustrations

2.1	Traditional farm house, 1st half of the 20th century. Photo by Katarína Košťalová in 2005.	37
2.2	Kocka (the cubic) – typical family house of the socialist period. Photo by Katarína Košťalová in 2005.	37
2.3	New post-1989 architecture. Photo by Katarína Košťalová in 2005.	38
4.1	The cover page of the official 2001 calendar of the Czech Armed Forces. Source: Photo Oldřich Jeřábek, Ministry of Defense of the Czech Republic, Prague, 2000.	85
4.2	Photograph of a disabled plane that Pavel Vaňous purchased from the Air Force and placed in his garden. Source: Photo P. Vaňous, in Lorenc and Rogl (2000).	91
6.1	A poster of the Festival ‘Culture for Tolerance’.	120
6.2	The last part of the March for Tolerance walking along Grodzka Street approaching Wawel Hill. The banners read: ‘Campaign against homophobia’; ‘Yes for tolerance’; ‘Love your neighbour’; ‘I have a phobia on homophobia’. Photo by Julia Heller.	124
6.3	Participants of the March protecting themselves with umbrellas against stones and eggs thrown by counter-demonstrators from the road leading to the Wawel Castle. Photo by Grażyna Kubica.	124
6.4	Counter-demonstrators blocked by the police. The banner reads: ‘Wawel dragon was strait’. Photo by Grażyna Kubica.	125
7.1	Construction work on the Olivia plant. Photo by László Kürti.	170
7.2	Work at the conveyor belt, Olivia, 2000. Photo by László Kürti.	171
7.3	Rabbit feast organised by Olivia, 1995. Photo by László Kürti.	173