Please join all of us at Berghahn in celebrating over seventeen years of independent publishing!

Dear Colleague,

Over the last few years, our journals program has rapidly expanded in scope and reputation and we are pleased to publish important journals in the subject areas of anthropology and sociology, politics, cultural studies, and history. Each journal is fully peer-reviewed with editorial boards comprised of the leading scholars in their fields. We are above all delighted to have our journals program recognized by the AAP/PSP through the award for Best New Journal in the Humanities & Social Sciences two years in a row! For 2008 the award went to Projections and for 2009 to Girlhood Studies. In 2010, Girlhood Studies was also the recipient of the Highly Commended Certificate for the ALPSP Best New Journal Award.

If you have any questions or suggestions about our journals publishing program and initiatives please do not hesitate to contact me directly.

Our thanks for your continued support.

Kind regards,

Vivian K. Berghahn

NEW JOURNALS TO BERGHAHN

Berghahn is thrilled to announce the relaunch of Cambridge Anthropology, as an international, peer-reviewed journal committed to publishing leading scholarship in contemporary anthropology in order to produce new analytical tool-kits for the discipline or to take all such intellectual exploration to task.

The latest volume in the Berghahn Advances in Research, Conflict and Society, will publish peer-reviewed articles by international scholars that aim to expand the field of conflict studies by using ethnographic inquiry to establish new fields of research and interdisciplinary collaborations.

In 2012 we are delighted to take over the publication of European Comic Art. This pioneering journal, published in association with the American Bande Dessinée Society and the International Bande Dessinée Society, is the first English-language scholarly publication devoted to the study of European-language graphic novels, comic strips, comic books and caricature.

NEW JOURNALS TO BERGHAHN IN 2012!

RELAUNCHED IN 2012!

CAMBRIDGE ANTHROPOLOGY

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: Maryon McDonald, University of Cambridge

Cambridge Anthropology is an international, peer-reviewed journal committed to publishing leading scholarship in contemporary anthropology. Geographically diverse articles provide a range of theoretical or ethical perspectives, from the traditional to the mischievous or subversive, and aim to offer new insights into the worlds in which we live. The journal will publish challenging ethnography and push hard at the boundaries of the discipline in addition to examining or incorporating fields – from economics to neuroscience – with which anthropology has long been in dialogue. The original remit of the journal, as an in-house publication based at Cambridge University, was to provide a space in which innovative material and ideas could be tested; the new Cambridge Anthropology will build on that tradition to produce new analytical tool-kits for anthropology or to take all such intellectual exploration to task.

Published twice a year, the journal features articles and book reviews in addition to an occasional 'Reflections and Commentary' section. Proposals for special issues and review articles are also welcomed.

NEW FROM ADVANCES IN RESEARCH IN 2012!

CONFLICT AND SOCIETY

Advances in Research

EDITORS-IN-CHIEF: Alexander Horstmann, Mahidol University and Ronald S. Stade, Malmö University

Organized violence – war, armed revolt, genocide, lynching, targeted killings, torture, routine discrimination, terrorism, trauma and suffering – is a daily reality for some while for others it is a sound bite or news clip seen in passing and easily forgotten. Rigorous scholarly research of the social and cultural conditions of organized violence, its genesis, dynamic, and impact, is fundamental to addressing questions of local and global conflict and its impact on the human condition.

Publishing peer-reviewed articles by international scholars, Conflict and Society expands the field of conflict studies by using ethnographic inquiry to establish new fields of research and interdisciplinary collaboration. An opening special section presents general articles devoted to a topic or region followed by a section featuring conceptual debates on key problems in the study of organized violence. Review articles and topical overviews offer navigational assistance across the vast and varied terrain of conflict research and comprehensive reviews of new books round out each volume. With special attention paid to ongoing debates on the politics and ethics of conflict studies research, including military-academic cooperation, Conflict and Society will be an essential forum for scholars, researchers, and policy makers in the fields of anthropology, sociology, political science, and development studies.

ANTHROPOLOGICAL JOURNAL OF EUROPEAN CULTURES

EDITOR: Ullrich Kockel, University of Ulster

AJEC engages with current debates and innovative research agendas addressing the social and cultural transformations of contemporary European societies. The journal serves as an important forum for ethnographic research in and on Europe, which in this context is not defined narrowly as a geopolitical entity but rather as a meaningful cultural construction in people's lives, which both legitimates political power and calls forth practices of resistance and subversion. By presenting both new field studies and theoretical reflections on the history and politics of studying culture in Europe anthropologically, AJEC encompasses different academic traditions of engaging with its subject, from social and cultural anthropology to European ethnology and empirische Kulturwissenschaften.

In addition to the thematic focus of each issue, which has characterized the journal from its inception, AJEC now also carries individual articles on other topics addressing aspects of social and cultural transformations in contemporary Europe from an ethnographically grounded anthropological perspective. All such contributions are peer-reviewed. Each issue also includes book reviews and reports on major current research programs.

ANTHROPOLOGY OF THE MIDDLE EAST

EDITOR: Soheila Shahshahani, Shahid Beheshti University, Tehran
MANAGING EDITOR: Birgit Reinel, Tübingen

Recent political events have shown an alarming lack of awareness in Western countries about life in the Middle East. Anthropologists, trained in analyzing local discourses and social actions and their socio-political and historical contexts, play an important role in making social and cultural developments in the Middle East more comprehensible to a wider world.

This important peer-reviewed journal provides a forum for scholarly exchange between anthropologists and other social scientists working in and on the Middle East. The journal's aim is to disseminate, on the basis of informed analysis and insight, a better understanding of Middle-Eastern cultures and thereby to achieve a greater appreciation of Middle-Eastern contributions to our culturally diverse world.

FOCAAL Journal of Global and Historical Anthropology

EDITORS: Don Kalb, Central European University and Utrecht University, Christopher Krupa, University of Toronto Scarborough, Mathijs Pelkmans, London School of Economics, Oscar Salemink, VU University, Amsterdam, Gavin Smith, University of Toronto, and Oane Visser, Radboud University Nijmegen
MANAGING EDITOR: Luisa Steur, Central European University

Focaal is a peer-reviewed journal advocating an approach that rests in the simultaneity of ethnography, processual analysis, local insights, and global vision. Seeking contributions on all world regions, Focaal is unique among anthropology journals for consistently rejecting the old separations between 'at home' and 'abroad', 'center' and 'periphery'. The journal therefore strives for the resurrection of an 'anthropology at large', that can accommodate issues of the global south, post-socialism, mobility, metropolitan experience, capitalist power and popular resistance into integrated perspectives.

LEARNING AND TEACHING The International Journal of Higher Education in the Social Sciences

EDITORS: Penny Welch, School of Law, Social Sciences and Communication, University of Wolverhampton and Susan Wright, Danish School of Education, University of Århus

Learning and Teaching (LATISS) is a peer-reviewed journal that uses the social sciences to reflect critically on learning and teaching in the changing context of higher education. The journal invites students and staff to explore their education practices in the light of changes in their institutions, national higher education policies, the strategies of international agencies, and developments associated with the so-called international knowledge economy.

The readership spans practitioners, researchers, and students. It includes undergraduates and postgraduates interested in analyzing their experience at university, newly appointed staff taking a qualification in learning and teaching, staff members of learning and teaching units, experienced teachers in higher education, and researchers on university reform.

NATURE AND CULTURE

EDITORS: Sing C. Chew, Helmholtz Centre for Environmental Research - UFZ and Humboldt State University and Matthias Gross, Helmholtz Centre for Environmental Research - UFZ
MANAGING EDITOR: Melanie Heyde, Helmholtz Centre for Environmental Research - UFZ

Nature and Culture is a forum for the international community of scholars and practitioners to present, discuss, and evaluate critical issues and themes related to the historical and contemporary relationships that societies, civilizations, empires, regions, and nation-states have with Nature. The journal contains a serious interpolation of theory, methodology, criticism, and concrete observation forming the basis of this discussion. The mission of the journal is to move beyond specialized disciplinary enclaves and mind-sets toward broader syntheses that encompass time, space and structures in understanding the Nature-Culture relationship. Nature and Culture will furthermore provide an outlet for the identification of knowledge gaps in our understanding of this relationship.

REGIONS AND COHESION

Regiones y Cohesión / Régions et Cohésion

EDITORS: Harlan Koff and Carmen Maganda, both of the University of Luxembourg

The journal of the Consortium for Comparative Research on Regional Integration and Social Cohesion (RISC), a cross-regional, interdisciplinary, and multi-lingual network of socially conscious and prestigious research institutes in Europe, North America, South America and Africa.

Regions and Cohesion provides a needed platform for academics and practitioners alike to disseminate both empirical research and normative analysis of topics related to human and environmental security, social cohesion, and governance. It covers themes, such as the management of strategic resources, environment and society, social risk and marginalization, disasters and policy responses, violence, war and urban security, the quality of democracy, development, public health, immigration, human rights, organized crime, and cross-border human security. Interdisciplinary in nature and multi-lingual in character (English, French, Spanish), the journal promotes the comparative examination of the human and environmental impacts of various aspects of regional integration across geographic areas, time periods, and policy arenas

SOCIAL ANALYSIS

The International Journal of Cultural and Social Practice

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: Bruce Kapferer, University of Bergen

Social Analysis has long been at the forefront of anthropology's engagement with the humanities and other social sciences. In forming a critical, concerned, and empirical perspective, it encourages contributions that break away from the disciplinary bounds of anthropology and suggest innovative ways of challenging hegemonic paradigms through "grounded theory," analysis based in original empirical research.

The journal invites contributions directed toward a critical and theoretical understanding of cultural, political, and social processes. It is available for the publication of information and discussion by active ethnographic researchers into the forces involved in the production of human suffering, poverty, prejudice, war, and violence. The main thrust of the journal is toward publishing material that presents a critical and concerned anthropology.

TRANSFERS

Interdisciplinary Journal of Mobility Studies

CHIEF EDITOR: Gijs Mom, Eindhoven University of Technology

Transfers is a new peer-reviewed journal publishing cutting-edge research on the processes, structures, and consequences of the movement of people, resources, and commodities. Intellectually rigorous, broad ranging, and conceptually innovative, the journal combines the empiricism of traditional mobility history with more recent methodological approaches from the social sciences and the humanities.

The journal's scholarly essays, book and exhibit reviews, artwork and photography, and special features provide a rich variety of perspectives that include: analyses of the past and present experiences of vehicle drivers, passengers, pedestrians, migrants, and refugees; accounts of the arrival and transformation of mobility in different nations and locales; and investigations of the kinetic processes of global capital, technology, chemical and biological substances, images, narratives, sounds, and ideas.

ENVIRONMENT AND SOCIETY

Published in association with the Earth Institute, Columbia University

EDITORS: Paige West, Columbia University and Dan Brockington, University of Manchester

Environment and Society publishes critical reviews of the latest research literature on environmental studies, including subjects of theoretical, methodological, substantive, and applied significance. Articles also survey the literature regionally and thematically and reflect the work of anthropologists, geographers, environmental scientists, and human ecologists from all parts of the world in order to internationalize the conversations within environmental anthropology, environmental geography, and other environmentally oriented social sciences. The publication appeals to academic, research and policy-making audiences.

RELIGION AND SOCIETY

EDITORS: Simon Coleman, University of Toronto and Ramon Sarró, University of Lisbon and Yale University

Religion and Society responds to the need for a rigorous, in-depth review of current work in the expanding sub-discipline of the anthropology of religion. In addition, this important annual aims to provide a dynamic snapshot of developments in the study of religion as a whole and encourages inter-disciplinary perspectives. Its contributions provide overviews of a given topic with critical, "positioned" views of the subject and of relevant research.
