ABOUT BERGHAHN JOURNALS

Berghahn Journals is the journals division of Berghahn Books, an independent publisher of distinguished scholarly books and journals in the humanities and social sciences, headed by a mother (books) and daughter (journals) team. Its program, which includes close to 40 journals and up to 100 new titles a year, spans Anthropology, Migration & Refugee Studies, European History, International Politics, and Film Studies. A peer-review press, Berghahn is committed to the highest academic standards and seeks to enable innovative contributions to the scholarship in its fields of specialty.

BERGHAHN JOURNALS WEBSITE

www.journals.berghahnbooks.com

Our website is redeveloped and improved on a regular basis in order to provide our users with a clear, functional, and informative site with customized pages for contributors, librarians, agents, and advertisers. The informational pages for authors provide Editors and contributors with the necessary guidelines and points of reference for common queries, especially as regards permissions and article usage. This includes details on Berghahn’s open access and institutional repository policies. The library informational pages provide direct guidance to institutional subscribers in addressing common questions such as access to online content, pricing and policies, license agreements, as well as guidelines for institutional repositories. In addition, links throughout these pages ensure that all the relevant sample and recommendation forms are easily accessible for downloading.

Please join all of us at Berghahn in celebrating over twenty years of independent publishing!

Dear Colleague,

Welcome to the 2015 Berghahn Journals Anthropology Catalog.

Within these pages you will find details on those journals publishing some of the most innovative and forward-thinking anthropology articles in the subfields they represent. Each in their own way, the Editors seek to challenge the boundaries and excite debate within the discipline with contributions that offer a range of engaging ethnographies and nuanced theoretical frameworks.

We appreciate your continued readership and enthusiastic support of our anthropology program.

If you have any questions or suggestions about our journals publishing program or initiatives please do not hesitate to contact me directly.

Kind regards,

ANTHROPOLOGICAL JOURNAL OF EUROPEAN CULTURES
EDITOR: Ullrich Kockel, University of Ulster

Published since 1990, AJEC engages with current debates and innovative research agendas addressing the social and cultural transformations of contemporary European societies. The journal serves as an important forum for ethnographic research in and on Europe, which in this context is not defined narrowly as a geopolitical entity but rather as a meaningful cultural construction in people’s lives, which both legitimates political power and calls forth practices of resistance and subversion. By presenting both new field studies and theoretical reflections on the history and politics of studying culture in Europe anthropologically, AJEC encompasses different academic traditions of engaging with its subject, from social and cultural anthropology to European ethnology and empirische Kulturwissenschaften.

In addition to the thematic focus of each issue, which has characterized the journal from its inception, AJEC now also carries individual articles on other topics addressing aspects of social and cultural transformations in contemporary Europe from an ethnographically-grounded anthropological perspective. All such contributions are peer-reviewed. Each issue also includes book reviews and reports on major current research programs.

ANTHROPOLOGY IN ACTION
Journal for Applied Anthropology in Policy and Practice
EDITOR: Christine McCourt, City University London

Published in association with the Association of Social Anthropologists’ (ASA) Apply Network

Anthropology in Action is a peer-reviewed journal publishing key articles, commentaries, research reports, and book reviews that deal with the use of anthropology in all areas of policy or practice. The journal provides a forum for debate and analysis of anthropological themes. Recent themes and articles have included the anthropology of welfare, transferring anthropological skills to applied health research, design considerations in old-age living, museum-based anthropology education, cultural identities and British citizenship, feminism and anthropology, and international student and youth mobility.

ANTHROPOLOGY OF THE MIDDLE EAST
EDITOR: Soheila Shahshahani, Shahid Beheshti University, Tehran
MANAGING EDITOR: Birgit Reinel, Tübingen

Recent political events have shown an alarming lack of awareness in Western countries about life in the Middle East. Anthropologists, trained in analyzing local discourses and social actions and their socio-political and historical contexts, play an important role in making social and cultural developments in the Middle East more comprehensible to a wider world.

This important peer-reviewed journal provides a forum for scholarly exchange between anthropologists and other social scientists working in and on the Middle East. The journal’s aim is to disseminate, on the basis of informed analysis and insight, a better understanding of Middle-Eastern cultures and thereby to achieve a greater appreciation of Middle-Eastern contributions to our culturally diverse world.

CAMBRIDGE ANTHROPOLOGY
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: Maryon McDonald, University of Cambridge

Cambridge Anthropology is an international, peer-reviewed journal committed to publishing leading scholarship in contemporary anthropology. Geographically diverse articles provide a range of theoretical or ethical perspectives, from the traditional to the mischievous or subversive, and aim to offer new insights into the worlds in which we live. The journal will publish challenging ethnography and push hard at the boundaries of the discipline in addition to examining or incorporating fields — from economics to neuroscience — with which anthropology has long been in dialogue.

The original name of this journal was an in-house publication based at Cambridge University, with a remit to provide a space in which innovative material and ideas could be tested. The new Cambridge Anthropology builds on that tradition and seeks to produce new analytical tool-kits for anthropology or to take all such intellectual exploration to task.

Published twice a year, the journal features articles and book reviews in addition to an occasional ‘Reflections and Commentary’ section. Proposals for special issues and review articles are also welcomed.

FOCAAL
Journal of Global and Historical Anthropology
EDITORS: Don Kalb, Central European University and Utrecht University, Christopher Krupa, University of Toronto Scarborough, Mathijs Pelkmans, London School of Economics, Oscar Salemink, University of Copenhagen, Gavin Smith, University of Toronto, and Oane Visser, International Institute of Social Studies (ISS), The Hague, MANAGING EDITOR: Luisa Steur, University of Copenhagen

Focaal is a peer-reviewed journal advocating an approach that rests in the simultaneity of ethnography, processual analysis, local insights, and global vision. Seeking contributions on all world regions, Focaal is unique among anthropology journals for consistently rejecting the old separations between ‘at home’ and ‘abroad’, ‘center’ and ‘periphery’. The journal therefore strives for the resurrection of an ‘anthropology at large’, that can accommodate issues of the global south, post-socialism, mobility, metropolitan experience, capitalist power and popular resistance into integrated perspectives.

WE ARE DELIGHTED TO ANNOUNCE THE LAUNCH OF FOCAALBLOG!
FocaalBlog aims to accelerate and intensify anthropological conversations beyond what a regular academic journal can do, and to make them more widely, globally, and swiftly available.

JOURNEYS
The International Journal of Travel and Travel Writing
EDITORS: Maria Pia DiBella, CNRS-GETMS-EHESS, Paris and Brian Yothers, University of Texas at El Paso

Travel writing and other representations of journeys as cultural practice and product are engaging the attention of scholars and commentators in a wide range of disciplines, and their study is becoming recognized as an important academic field. The remit of Journeys is to reflect the rich diversity of travels and journeys as social and cultural practices as well as their significance as metaphorical processes. It is a broad-based interdisciplinary journal of particular importance for those interested in the study of travel writing from the perspectives of, for example, anthropology, social history, religious studies, human geography, literary criticism, and cultural studies.

LEARNING AND TEACHING
The International Journal of Higher Education in the Social Sciences
EDITORS: Penny Welch, School of Law, Social Sciences and Communication, University of Wolverhampton and Susan Wright, Danish School of Education, University of Aarhus

Learning and Teaching (LATISS) is a peer-reviewed journal that uses the social sciences to reflect critically on learning and teaching in the changing context of higher education. The journal invites students and staff to explore their education practices in the light of changes in their institutions, national higher education policies, the strategies of international agencies, and developments associated with the so-called international knowledge economy.

The disciplines covered include politics and international relations, anthropology, sociology, criminology, social policy, cultural studies, and educational studies. The readership spans practitioners, researchers, and students. It includes undergraduates and postgraduates interested in analyzing their experience at university, newly appointed staff taking a qualification in learning and teaching, staff members of learning and teaching units, experienced teachers in higher education, and researchers on university reform.

The journal invites contributions directed toward a critical and theoretical understanding of cultural, political, and social processes. It is available for the publication of information and discussion by active ethnographic researchers into the forces involved in the production of human suffering, poverty, prejudice, war, and violence. The main thrust of the journal is toward publishing material that presents a critical and concerned anthropology.

Social Analysis

The International Journal of Cultural and Social Practice

Editors:

Harlan Koff, University of Bergen

Bruce Kapferer, University of Bergen

Co-Editors:

Bjørn Enge Bertelsen, University of Bergen

Knut Mikjel Rio, University of Bergen

Social Analysis has long been at the forefront of anthropology’s engagement with the humanities and other social sciences. In forming a critical, concerned, and empirical perspective, it encourages contributions that break away from the disciplinary bounds of anthropology and suggest innovative ways of challenging hegemonic paradigms through "grounded theory," analysis based in original empirical research.

Transfers

Interdisciplinary Journal of Mobility Studies

Chief Editor:

Gijs Mom, Eindhoven University of Technology

Transfers is a new peer-reviewed journal publishing cutting-edge research on the processes, structures, and consequences of the movement of people, resources, and commodities. Intellectually rigorous, broad ranging, and conceptually innovative, the journal combines the empiricism of traditional mobility history with more recent methodological approaches from the social sciences and the humanities. The journal’s scholarly essays, book and exhibit reviews, artwork and photography, and special features provide a rich variety of perspectives that include: analyses of the past and present experiences of vehicle drivers, passengers, pedestrians, migrants, and refugees; accounts of the arrival and transformation of mobility in different nations and locales; and investigations of the kinetic processes of global capital, technology, chemical and biological substances, images, narratives, sounds, and ideas.

NEW IN 2015
CONFLICT AND SOCIETY
EDITORIAL TEAM: Ronald S. Stade, Malmö University, Alexander Horstmann, University of Copenhagen, Erella Grassiani, University of Amsterdam, Lotte Buch Segal, University of Copenhagen and Henrik Vigh, University of Copenhagen

Organized violence — war, armed revolt, genocide, lynching, targeted killings, torture, routine discrimination, terrorism, trauma and suffering — is a daily reality for some while for others it is a sound bite or news clip seen in passing and easily forgotten. Rigorous scholarly research of the social and cultural conditions of organized violence; its genesis, dynamic, and impact, is fundamental to addressing questions of local and global conflict and its impact on the human condition.

Publishing peer-reviewed articles by international scholars, Conflict and Society expands the field of conflict studies by using ethnographic inquiry to establish new fields of research and interdisciplinary collaboration. An opening special section presents general articles devoted to a topic or region followed by a section featuring conceptual debates on key problems in the study of organized violence. Review articles and topical overviews offer navigational assistance across the vast and varied terrain of conflict research and comprehensive reviews of new books round out each volume. With special attention paid to ongoing debates on the politics and ethics of conflict studies research, including military-academic cooperation, Conflict and Society will be an essential forum for scholars, researchers, and policy makers in the fields of anthropology, sociology, political science, and development studies.

ENVIRONMENT AND SOCIETY
EDITORS: Paige West, Columbia University and Dan Brockington, University of Manchester

Environment and Society publishes critical reviews of the latest research literature on environmental studies, including subjects of theoretical, methodological, substantive, and applied significance. Articles also survey the literature regionally and thematically and reflect the work of anthropologists, geographers, environmental scientists, and human ecologists from all parts of the world in order to internationalize the conversations within environmental anthropology, environmental geography, and other environmentally oriented social sciences. The publication appeals to academic, research and policy-making audiences.

MUSEUM WORLDS
EDITORS: Sandra Dudley, School of Museum Studies, University of Leicester and Kylie Message, Australian National University

Museum Worlds: Advances in Research is a new, multi-disciplinary, refereed, annual journal from Berghahn Journals that will publish work that significantly advances knowledge of global trends, case studies and theory relevant to museum practice and scholarship around the world. Responding to the need for a rigorous, in-depth review of current work in the broad field of Museum Studies, Museum Worlds will contribute to the ongoing formation of Museum Studies, as an academic and practical field of research which is rapidly expanding and alive with potential, opportunity and challenge that parallels the rapid growth of museums in just about every part of the world.

RELIGION AND SOCIETY
EDITORS: Simon Coleman, University of Toronto and Ruy Llera Blanes, Institute of Social Sciences, Lisbon, and London School of Economics

Religion and Society responds to the need for a rigorous, in-depth review of current work in the expanding sub-discipline of the anthropology of religion. In addition, this important annual aims to provide a dynamic snapshot of developments in the study of religion as a whole and encourages inter-disciplinary perspectives. Each issue contains a profile of a senior scholar of religion, alongside invited papers produced by authorities in their respective sub-fields.

The contributions provide overviews of a given topic with critical, “positioned” views of the subject and of relevant research. In the “Debate Topic” section a scholar of religion reflects on a high profile issue or event and a “Reflections on a Text” feature invite discussants to comment on a recently published volume, followed by a response from the author. Other sections cover teaching the anthropology of religion, news and conferences, and — vitally — reviews of new books and ethnographic films.
