Sense and Essence

Heritage and the Cultural Production of the Real

Edited by Birgit Meyer and Mattijs van de Port

"... this volume not only makes a significant contribution to an issue that is of wider interest to the social sciences, it also makes heritage studies as a field highly relevant to the social sciences." • Ferdinand de Jong, University of East Anglia

Birgit Meyer is Professor of Religious Studies at Utrecht University.

Mattijs van de Port is Professor of Popular Religiosity at VU University Amsterdam and Associate Professor in the anthropology department of the University of Amsterdam.

Volume 9, Material Mediations: People and Things in a World of Movement

ISBN 978-1-78533-940-0 Pb $34.95/£24.00
eISBN 978-1-78533-941-7

Humour, Comedy and Laughter

Obscenities, Paradoxes, Insights and the Renewal of Life

Edited by Lidia Dina Sciama

"This book is a valuable contribution to the anthropology on humour as there is so little of it, despite the important place of humorous phenomena within social life. The wide variety of topics reflects the myriad ways humour may figure in different contexts: how in some cases it is an important aspect of the situation in question and in others it provides a specific lens through which to consider a topic." • Journal of Royal Anthropological Institute

Lidia Dina Sciama is former Director of the International Gender Studies Centre (formerly the Centre for Cross-Cultural Research on Women), University of Oxford, where she is currently a Research Associate.

Volume 8, Social Identities
August 2018, 220 pages, 20 illus., 2 tables, bibliog., index

eISBN 978-1-78238-543-1

Border Aesthetics

Concepts and Intersections

Edited by Johan Schimanski and Stephen F. Wolfe

"This well-structured book offers a refreshing and novel approach to the now fairly crowded field of border studies, advancing an innovative and humanities-facing theoretical framework grounded in aesthetics." • Hastings Donnan, Queen's University Belfast

Volume 3, Time and the World: Interdisciplinary Studies in Cultural Transformations

October 2018, 188 pages, 5 illus., bibliog., index
ISBN 978-1-78920-053-9 Pb $24.95/£17.00
eISBN 978-1-78533-465-8

Series Editor: Aleksandar Bošković, University of Belgrade
Published in Association with the European Association of Social-Anthropologists (EASA)

The studies in this series describe societies, processes and institutions around the world and are intended for both scholarly and student readerships.

World Heritage on the Ground

Ethnographic Perspectives

Edited by Christoph Brumann and David Berliner

"...this excellent book provides thoughtful critiques of UNESCO, state organizations, developers, and the tourist bureaus that translate and reconfigure UNESCO policies in glocalizing ways." • Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute

In case studies from across the globe, anthropologists with situated expertise in specific World Heritage sites explore the consequences of the World Heritage framework and the global spread of this heritage regime.

Christoph Brumann is Head of the Urban Anthropology Research Group at the Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology in Halle, Germany, and Honorary Professor of Anthropology at Martin Luther University Halle-Wittenberg.

David Berliner is Associate Professor of Anthropology at the Université libre de Bruxelles, Belgium.

Flexible Capitalism

Exchange and Ambiguity at Work

Edited by Jens Kjaerulff
Afterword by Keir Martin

"The book is an intriguing compilation of research that deals with changes in modern labour and employment. Its authors add new perspectives to debates in sociology of work and contemporary social thought." • Vera Trappmann, Universität Magdeburg

Introducing anthropological exchange theory to a wider readership, this volume explores sociality in work environments marked by the kind of structural changes that have come to define contemporary "flexible" capitalism.

Jens Kjaerulff has held positions at Simon Fraser University, University of Victoria, and University of Manchester, and is conducting independent research and serving as a consultant PhD supervisor.

Volume 25

Management by Seclusion A Critique of World Bank Promises to End Global Poverty

Glynn Cochrane

Assessing the World Bank's attempts to combat global poverty over the past 50 years, anthropologist and former World Bank Advisor Glynn Cochrane argues that instead of the Bank's prevailing strategy of "management by seclusion," poverty alleviation requires personal engagement with the poorest by helpers with hands-on local and cultural skills.

Glynn Cochrane was World Bank Advisor on Public Administration in Papua New Guinea, and Chief World Bank/UNDP Advisor for Civil Service Reform in Tanzania.

Democracy's Paradox Populism and its Contemporary Crisis

Edited by Dimitrios Theodossopoulos and Bruce Kapferer

The volume provides an empowering critique that exposes the exclusionary essentialisms propagated by populist rhetoric, but also directs attention to local views of political accountability and historical-consciousness.

Dimitrios Theodossopoulos is Professor of Social Anthropology at the University of Kent.

Bruce Kapferer is Director of an ERC Advanced Grant on Egalitarianism at the University of Bergen.

Religion and Science as Forms of Life Anthropological Insights into Reason and Unreason

Edited by Carles Salazar and Joan Bestard

"The publication of this volume marks a rich addition to long-established anthropological fields of magic, religion, and science. More importantly, however, the book is an important, much-needed injection to arguably sidelined anthropological fields of belief, disbelief, and, relatedly, unresolved contradiction." · Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute

Carles Salazar is Professor of Social and Cultural Anthropology at the University of Lleida.

Joan Bestard is Professor of Social Anthropology at the University of Barcelona, where he is also director of the research center on Kinship and Family.

Shamanism

Traditional and Contemporary Approaches to the Mastery of Spirits and Healing

Merete Demant Jakobsen†

"This is a most useful book in the present discourse on shamanism, for it is one in which a specialist in traditional or classical shamanism who is also familiar with New Age shamanism compares the two complexes ... highly recommendable." · Shamanism

Born in Copenhagen, Merete Demant Jakobsen† taught in Denmark, Britain, and Alaska.

July 2018, 290 pages, 10 illus., bibliog., index
ISBN 978-1-78920-049-2 Pb $34.95/£24.00

Anthropology and Public Service

The UK Experience

Edited by Jeremy MacClancy

"A good contribution to mainstream anthropological literature. Anthropology and Public Service will be a valuable and interesting resource for applied and practicing anthropology." · Riall Nolan, Purdue University

Many anthropologists are now finding jobs in commercial organizations or in government. This volume shows how anthropologists can set new agendas and revise old ones in the public sector.

Jeremy MacClancy is Professor of Anthropology and Director of the Anthropological Centre for Conservation, the Environment, and Development, Oxford Brookes University.

January 2019, 202 pages, bibliog., index

Reflecting on Reflexivity

The Human Condition as an Ontological Surprise

Edited by Terry Evens, Don Handelman and Christopher Roberts

This volume analyzes reflexivity on two analytical planes. On one is the role reflexivity plays in human life and the study of it. The other plane is anthropo-philosophical, which maintains that reflexivity definitively distinguishes the being and becoming of the human.

Terry Evens is Professor Emeritus of Anthropology at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Don Handelman is Sarah Allen Shaine Professor Emeritus of Anthropology at the Hebrew University.

Christopher Roberts is Professor of Humanities and Religion at Lewis and Clark College.

Methodologies of Mobility

Ethnography and Experiment

Edited by Alice Elliot, Roger Norum, and Noel B. Salazar
Afterword by Simone Abram

With scholars continuing to face different forms and scales of mobility, this volume strategically traces innovative ways of designing, applying and reflecting on both established and cutting-edge methodologies of mobility.

Alice Elliot is a Lecturer in Social Anthropology at the University of Bristol, UK.

Roger Norum is a Postdoctoral Research Fellow at the University of Leeds.

Noel B. Salazar is Research Professor in Anthropology at the University of Leuven and Founder of the EASA Anthropology and Mobility Network.

Hierarchy and Value Comparative Perspectives on Moral Order

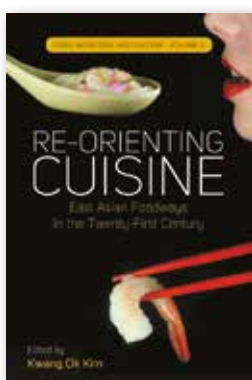

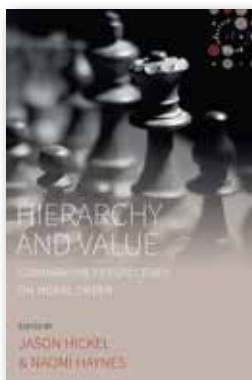

Edited by Jason Hickel and Naomi Haynes
Afterword by David Graeber

Globalization promised to bring about a golden age of liberal individualism, breaking down hierarchies of kinship, caste, and gender around the world and freeing people to express their true, authentic agency. But in some places globalization has spurred the emergence of new forms of hierarchy—or the reemergence of old forms—as people try to reconstitute an imagined past of stable moral order. Why does this happen and how do we make sense of this phenomenon? Why do some communities see hierarchy as desirable? In this book, leading anthropologists draw on insightful ethnographic case studies from around the world to address these trends.

Jason Hickel is an anthropologist at Goldsmiths, University of London.

Naomi Haynes is a lecturer in social anthropology at the University of Edinburgh.

Volume 7, Studies in Social Analysis

Re-orienting Cuisine East Asian Foodways in the Twenty-First Century

Edited by Kwang Ok Kim

“Overall, this volume provides rich ethnographic and descriptive material for any scholar interested in Asian foodways. This work is a welcome addition to the ever-growing cannon on food scholarship in Asia.” - Journal of Royal Anthropological Institute

“Overall, this book will be a useful addition to the shelf of books about material culture (what culture is not material?), migration, identity and politics, East Asia, and of course food studies. The chapters are of pleasing lengths and provide a useful variety. They are not aiming for timelessness, but rather timeliness, and on that basis they succeed quite well.” - Anthropos

Foods are changed by those who produce and supply them, and also by those who consume them. The contributors of this volume have expanded the discussion of food to include its social and cultural meanings and functions, thereby using it as a way to explain a culture and its changes.

Kwang Ok Kim, D.Phil. Oxon. is Professor Emeritus of Anthropology at Seoul National University and Yongje Distinguished Professor at Yonsei University.

Volume 3, Food, Nutrition, and Culture

eISBN 978-1-78238-563-9

Series Editor: Günther Schlee, Director at the Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology

Published in association with Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology, Halle/Saale

Bringing together international experts, Integration and Conflict Studies includes both monographs and edited volumes, and offers a forum for studies that contribute to a better understanding of processes of identification and inter-group relations.

On Retaliation Towards an Interdisciplinary Understanding of a Basic Human Condition

Edited by Bertram Turner and Günther Schlee

On Retaliation presents a synthesized approach to both the violence-generating and violence-avoiding potentials of retaliation. Contributors to this volume touch upon the interaction between retaliation and violence, the state's monopoly on legitimate punishment and the factors of socio-political frameworks, religious interpretations and economic processes.

Bertram Turner is an anthropologist and a senior researcher in the department 'Law and Anthropology' at the Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology in Halle, Germany.

Günther Schlee is one of the Founding Directors of the Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology in Halle, Germany.

'City of the Future' Built Space, Modernity and Urban Change in Astana

Mateusz Laszczkowski

“City of the Future represents a particularly remarkable achievement not only in its sophisticated consideration of [its] sources and the fascinating dialogues into which it brings them, but equally in how Laszczkowski skillfully grounds them within the open-ended ambivalences that his sharp ethnographic eye brings to light with impressive lucidity...” - Slavic Review

The long-awaited comprehensive account of the rise of Astana, the capital city of Kazakhstan, this book argues for an understanding of space as inextricably material-and-imaginary, and unceasingly dynamic – allowing for a plurality of incompatible pasts and futures materialized in spatial form.

Mateusz Laszczkowski is Assistant Professor at the Institute of Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology, at the University of Warsaw, Poland.

Living Before Dying

Imagining and Remembering Home

Janette Davies
 Foreword by Lord Nigel Crisp

“Living Before Dying is an important and timely contribution to a rising body of social scientific and bioethical work about dementia, including the anthropology of senility. It should be read by all those who want care to improve for older people, with and without dementia.” • Times Higher Education

This in-depth description of life in a nursing/care home, told in a year of daily conversations with patients and staff, highlights the daily care of frail or ill residents of extreme old age, emphasising interaction with care assistants and the different behaviours of men and women.

Janette Davies is a social and medical anthropologist at the International Gender Studies Centre, Lady Margaret Hall, University of Oxford.

Volume 41, New Directions in Anthropology

Cosmos, Gods and Madmen

Frameworks in the Anthropologies of Medicine

Edited by Roland Littlewood and Rebecca Lynch

“It will not be news to any anthropologists that religion and supernatural agency is frequently implicated in the diagnosis and cure of illness, mental or otherwise, but the case studies are a welcome addition to the literature on medical anthropology and the anthropology of religion.” • Anthropology Review Database

Roland Littlewood is Professor of Anthropology and Psychiatry at UCL.

Rebecca Lynch is a Research Fellow in Medical Anthropology at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine (LSHTM).

The Online World of Surrogacy

Zsuzsa Berend

“This is a much awaited contribution to the surrogacy scholarship as it is the first ethnographic study to look at surrogacy in the United States since the early 1990’s... Berend’s book is also cutting edge in its methodology, since it is based on “online ethnography.” • Elly Teman, author of Birthing a Mother: the Surrogate Body and the Pregnant Self

Zsuzsa Berend presents a methodologically innovative ethnography of the surrogacy support website in the United States. The Online World of Surrogacy documents collective meaning-making practices that unfold online, and explores their practical, emotional, and moral implications. In doing so, the book works through themes of interest across the social sciences, including definitions of parenthood, the symbolic role of money, reproductive loss, altruism, and the moral valuation of relationships.

Zsuzsa Berend teaches sociology at the University of California, Los Angeles and is the academic administrator of the sociology departmental Honors program.

The Making of the Greek Genocide Contested Memories of the Ottoman Greek Catastrophe

Erik Sjöberg

"Erik Sjöberg has written a dense, varied, and admirable book...a thoughtful, well-written, and original contribution to the scholarship on the politics of memory in the aftermath of mass violence. Sjöberg treats themes as wide-ranging as cultural trauma, diaspora politics, ideology, national identity, etc...One can only hope that future publications on the Ottoman Greek catastrophe take Sjöberg's arguments seriously." · Hungarian Historical Review

After World War I, over one million Ottoman Greeks were expelled from Turkey, resulting in hundreds of thousands of deaths. This study analyzes the fight for international recognition of the Greek genocide narrative, showing how its memory developed as a cultural trauma with both nationalist and cosmopolitan dimensions.

Erik Sjöberg is Associate Professor of History at Södertörn University, Stockholm.

Microhistories of the Holocaust

Edited by Claire Zalc and Tal Bruttmann

"This excellent volume not only displays an admirable thematic and geographic diversity, but also presents a range of interpretations of the methodology known as 'microhistory.' Together, the chapters provide a refreshing and important look at the genocide against the Jews, illuminating aspects and incidents that must, by definition, be overlooked by macrohistorical studies." · Jonathan R. Zatlín, Boston University

This volume brings together scholars to reflect on the ongoing microhistorical turn in Holocaust studies, assessing its historiographical pitfalls as well as the distinctive opportunities it affords researchers.

Claire Zalc is a Research Professor (directrice de recherche) in history at the Institut d'histoire moderne et contemporaine, CNRS-ENS.

Tal Bruttmann is a researcher whose work focuses on the various anti-Jewish policies implemented in France between 1940 and 1944, as well as the "Final Solution."

Daily Life in the Abyss Genocide Diaries, 1915-1918

Vahé Tachjian

"This is a meticulously researched and thoughtfully articulated work. It sheds new light on the situation in the Middle East, especially Syria, during World War I, and adds to our understanding of the progressive dehumanization of genocide victims." · Vahram Shemmassian, California State University, Northridge

Although research into the Armenian Genocide has grown tremendously in recent years, surprisingly little is known about the actual experiences of the genocide's victims. Daily Life in the Abyss illuminates this aspect through the intertwined stories of two Armenian families who endured forced relocation and deprivation in and around modern-day Syria.

Vahé Tachjian received his doctorate at the École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales (EHESS) in Paris.

Let Them Not Return

Sayfo - The Genocide Against the Assyrian, Syriac, and Chaldean Christians in the Ottoman Empire

Edited by David Gaunt, Naures Atto,
 and Soner O. Barthoma

"With a list of top-notch contributors, this is an excellent addition to what little is currently available on this under-researched genocide. The organization of the contributions and the volume's breadth of scope are particularly impressive." · Mark Levene, University of Southampton

This volume is the first scholarly edited collection focused on the Assyrian genocide, or "Sayfo" (literally, "sword" in Aramaic), presenting historical, psychological, anthropological, and political perspectives that shed much-needed light on a neglected historical atrocity.

David Gaunt is Professor of History at the Centre for Baltic and East European Studies, Södertörn University, and a member of the European Academy.

Naures Atto is a Mellon Postdoctoral Fellow in World Christianities and their Diaspora in the European Context and Principal Investigator in the Aramaic Online Project at the University of Cambridge.

World War I and the Jews

Conflict and Transformation in Europe, the Middle East, and America

Edited by Marsha L. Rozenblit and Jonathan Karp

"This volume fills a crucial research gap in modern Jewish history, contains excellent essays by senior and junior scholars, and makes a convincing case why the 'Great War' marked a crucial turning point in modern Jewish history on both sides of the Atlantic." · Tobias Brinkmann, The Pennsylvania State University

This book provides a fascinating survey of the ways in which Jewish communities participated in and were changed by the Great War, focusing on the dramatic circumstances they faced in Europe, North America, and the Middle East during and after the conflict.

Marsha L. Rozenblit is the Harvey M. Meyerhoff Professor of Modern Jewish History at the University of Maryland.

Whose Memory? Which Future? Remembering Ethnic Cleansing and Lost Cultural Diversity in Eastern, Central and Southeastern Europe

Edited by Barbara Törnquist-Plewa

"Exploring a new avenue, the study of cultural trauma, Whose Memory? Which Future? provides an original, timely and singularly stimulating contribution to several subfields of memory studies. Owing to its strong comparative dimension, the book will serve as a sound conceptual, methodological and critical springboard for scholars working on post-conflict memory and cultural trauma but also for students of urban heritage management or post-socialist political cultures..." · Bohemia

"...the volume makes an important contribution to the literature on memory and is a must-read for anyone interested in the subject." · Europe-Asia Studies

This volume brings together case studies exploring how modern inhabitants "remember" instances of ethnic cleansing, and how they understand the heritage of groups that vanished in their wake. Together these contributions offer insights into more universal questions of collective memory and the formation of national identity.

Barbara Törnquist-Plewa is Head of Lund University's Centre for European Studies.

Militant Around the Clock?

Nikolaos Papadogiannis

"The author offers a very unconventional insight into the complex power struggles over and among the Greek youth. He masterfully switches between the institutional perspective of the former youth organizations, speaking through an extensive body of written sources, and the perspectives of their formerly young members, voiced through over 50 oral testimonies, recorded in Athens and Thessaloniki." - Slavic Review

During the 1970s left-wing youth militancy in Greece intensified, especially after the collapse of the military dictatorship in 1974. This book is the first study of the impact of that political activism on the leisure pursuits and sexual behavior of Greek youth.

Nikolaos Papadogiannis is a Lecturer in Modern History at Bangor University, Wales, and Fellow of the Royal Historical Society.

UPDATED EDITION

Polish Cinema

A History

Marek Haltof

"Marek Haltof is a genuine scholar, a historian who meticulously chronicles not only Polish film history, but all that has been written about it. The style of Polish Cinema: A History is both sophisticated and accessible. He is attentive to the details of motion pictures, able to discuss art films and genre movies with equal authority." • Annette Insdorf, Columbia University and author of Intimations: The Cinema of Wojciech Has

PRAISE FOR THE FIRST EDITION

"Haltof's comprehensive, lucid, and refreshing critical history of Polish cinema significantly expands the existing literature on the topic in English... Essential for all serious libraries and very useful in the undergraduate or graduate classroom." • Choice

"What makes Haltof's book so wonderful is that, like a great filmmaker, he uses his subject to craft a much deeper and complex story of the Polish people and their search for a national identity ... With clarity and fluidity he makes Poland come alive." • Film and History

This thoroughly revised and updated edition of Marek Haltof's seminal survey takes stock of dramatic shifts in Polish society and to provide an essential account of the nation's cinema from the nineteenth century to today. It covers such renowned figures as Kieślowski and Wajda along with vastly expanded coverage of documentaries, animation, and television.

Sofia Coppola

The Politics of Visual Pleasure

Anna Backman Rogers

Sofia Coppola: The Politics of Visual Pleasure interprets Coppola's oeuvre to date from a resolutely feminist and philosophical perspective. Using the work of a range of feminist theorists, Backman Rogers situates Coppola's work as a critique of postfeminist lifestyles that offer the viewer a feminist and feminine philosophy through beguilement, mood and surface.

Anna Backman Rogers is a Senior Lecturer in Feminist Philosophy and Visual Culture at the University of Gothenburg in Sweden.

Journal of Legal Anthropology

Editor: Narmala Halstead, University of Sussex

The Journal of Legal Anthropology (JLA) is a peer-reviewed journal committed to anthropological understandings of socio-legal and cultural encounters. The journal develops ethnographic and theoretical approaches to a wide range of issues that reveal the significance and presence of legal phenomena in everyday life.

Articles, review essays, and book reviews published in the JLA emphasize innovative work and data-led analysis across a range of socio-political and socio-cultural legal contexts. The journal also considers, in broad terms, how the legal may enter into social constructions of persons and how the 'legal' might change meaning in terms of particular 'everyday' interpretations. Together with the journal's forum section, the JLA draws on cross-disciplinary exchanges to demonstrate how anthropology can effectively contribute to the current debates on contemporary socio-legal issues.

Contention

The Multidisciplinary Journal of Social Protest

Editors: Benjamin Abrams, University of Cambridge, and Giovanni A. Travaglio, University of Kent

Contention offers a novel contribution to the study of social protest and political behavior. The journal intends to advance knowledge about a comprehensive range of collective actions, social movements, and other forms of political and social contention. Its main purposes are to offer a multidisciplinary forum to scholars from different fields and to bridge the gap between them, within and across the social sciences and humanities.

While recognizing the importance of the contribution that the increasing specialization of knowledge has brought to the understanding of political behavior and collective action, Contention aims to reconstruct the fragmentation of the scientific discourse by offering in each issue a coherent but diversified range of articles from different theoretical, methodological, and philosophical approaches.

Contention is directed to a varied audience, including scholars and students from the arts and social sciences, and in general to individuals with a scientific and applied interest in the topic of social protest and collective action.
