NEW IN ANTHROPOLOGY'S ANCESTORS SERIES

Françoise Héritier

Gérald Gaillard

"Though highly regarded in France, she is not yet well known in English-language academic circles, but she certainly should be. This book will be a revelation to many anthropologists and feminist scholars." · Adam Kuper, London School of Economics

A great intellectual figure, Françoise Héritier succeeded Claude Lévi-Strauss as the Chair of Anthropology at the Collège de France in 1982. She was both an Africanist, author of magnificent works on the Samo population, the scientific progenitor of kinship studies, the creator of a theoretical base to feminist thought and an activist for many causes. This book follows the path of her life, which had a lasting impact on a generation of French anthropologists and continues to this day.

Industrial Labor on the Margins of Capitalism

Precarity, Class, and the Neoliberal Subject

Edited by Chris Hann, Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology and Jonathan Parry, London School of Economics

"What particularly stands out is the ethnographic descriptions of work often ignored by anthropology, such as Ching Kwan Lee's vivid descriptions of the hellish mines in which Zambian workers toil." · Journal of Anthropological Research

Volume 4, Max Planck Studies in Anthropology and Economy

February 2022, 384 pages, 9 illus.

Working With Diagrams

Edited by Lukas Engelmänn, Caroline Humphrey, and Christos Lynteris

Moving beyond an understanding of diagrams as mere inscriptions of objects and processes, this book instead re-evaluates diagrammatic reasoning as the work that is carried out with, on, and beyond diagrams. It discusses recent research on diagrams and diagrammatic reasoning across disciplines and approaches diagrams as suspended between imagination and perception—as objects with which work is done and as objects that do work.

Self in the World Connecting Life's Extremes

Keith Hart

"This is a work of great originality. Keith Hart has had an unorthodox academic career and it has liberated him in many ways from academic pieties. His background in African ethnography gives him a fascinating angle on all sorts of things, not least the possibility of a more African-influenced global future. The book is full of surprises and mind-shifting observations. I actually couldn't put it down." - Sherry B. Ortner, Distinguished Research Professor of Anthropology, UCLA

The eminent anthropologist Keith Hart reflects on a life of learning, sharing and remembering to offer readers the means of connecting life's extremes – individual and society, local and global, personal and impersonal dimensions of existence and explores what it is that makes us fully human.

Critique of Identity Thinking

Michael Jackson

"Through trenchant analysis and interplay of such thinkers as Hannah Arendt, Zora Neale Hurston, and Theodor Adorno, he exposes how these survivors of trauma unpack the complexity of identity formation, the act of identifying, and the tendency to use categories to control complicated human standpoints... This book could be useful for courses in anthropology, philosophy, contemporary literature, and sociology. – Recommended." · Choice

The Walls of Santiago Social Revolution and Political Aesthetics in Contemporary Chile

Terri Gordon-Zolov, The New School in New York City and Eric Zolov, Stony Brook University

"We are living a new era of protest, organizing, and political engagement. This book is both a testimony of these changes and an extraordinary early effort to make sense of this new reality. It is the result of the authors' vision and commitment to keep alive a history that was bound to vanish." • Mónica Ricketts, Temple University

The response in Chile to Santiago's metro's fare hike in October of 2019 has grown into a strong and multi-faceted resistance movement. Through incisive and topical analysis, the authors offer a beautiful catalog of photographs of the murals, graffiti, and other forms of political art, reflecting on these aesthetic traditions and their relationship to the broader context of global protest movements and the long shadow cast by memories of the Pinochet regime.

NEW IN SHAKESPEARE AND SERIES

Shakespeare and the First Hamlet

Edited by Terri Bourus,
Florida State University

The first edition of Hamlet – often called 'Q1', shorthand for 'first quarto' – was published in 1603, in what we might regard as the early modern equivalent of a cheap paperback. Yet this early version of Shakespeare's classic tragedy is becoming increasingly canonical, not because there is universal agreement about what it is or what it means, but because more and more Shakespearians agree that it is worth arguing about. The essays in this collected volume explore the ways in which we might approach Q1's Hamlet, from performance to book history, from Shakespeare's relationships with this contemporaries to the shape of his whole career.

(formerly ebrary and EBL). Libraries have a variety of purchase options—perpetual access, short-term loan or subscription—to a wide range of Berghahn eBooks across all our subjects. If an older title is not available from your library supplier, please ask them to request it from us.

Info for Instructors

We offer free and extended digital exam copies. For deciding on books for your current or upcoming semester's class, we provide free digital inspection copies and have also extended the standard review period to 90 days.

Electronic Files for Print-Disabled Students

For accessible file requests you can obtain files at Bookshare.org (US), [RNIB Bookshare](http://RNIB Bookshare) (UK) or email: productionus@berghahnbooks.com
