BOYHOOD STUDIES

An Interdisciplinary Journal

EDITOR: Diederik F. Janssen

Boyhood Studies is a peer-reviewed journal providing a forum for the discussion of boyhood, young masculinities, and boys' lives by exploring the full scale of intricacies, challenges, and legacies that inform male and masculine developments. Boyhood Studies is committed to a critical and international scope and solicits both articles and special issue proposals from a variety of research fields including, but not limited to, the social and psychological sciences, historical and cultural studies, philosophy, and social, legal, and health studies.

One of the core missions of the journal is to initiate conversation across disciplines, research angles, and intellectual viewpoints. Both theoretical and empirical contributions fit the journal's scope with critical literature reviews and review essays also welcomed. Possible topics include boyish and tomboyish genders; boys and schooling; boys and (post)feminisms; the folklore, mythology, and poetics of "male development"; son-parent and male student-teacher relations; young masculinities in the digital and postdigital ages; young sexualities; as well as representations of boyhoods across temporalities, geographies, and cultures.

ANTHROPOLOGICAL JOURNAL OF EUROPEAN CULTURES

EDITOR: Ullrich Kockel, Intercultural Research Centre, Heriot-Watt University, Edinburgh, Scotland

AJEC engages with current debates and innovative research agendas addressing the social and cultural transformations of contemporary European societies. The journal serves as an important forum for ethnographic research in and on Europe, which in this context is not defined narrowly as a geopolitical entity but rather as a meaningful cultural construction in people's lives, which both legitimates political power and calls forth practices of resistance and subversion. By presenting both new field studies and theoretical reflections on the history and politics of studying culture in Europe anthropologically, AJEC encompasses different academic traditions of engaging with its subject, from social and cultural anthropology to European ethnology and empirische Kulturwissenschaften.

In addition to the thematic focus of each issue, AJEC now also carries individual articles on other topics addressing aspects of social and cultural transformations in contemporary Europe from an ethnographically grounded anthropological perspective.

GIRLHOOD STUDIES

An Interdisciplinary Journal

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: Claudia Mitchell, McGill University and MANAGING EDITOR: Ann Smith, McGill University

Girlhood Studies is a peer-reviewed journal that provides a forum for the critical discussion of girlhood and for the dissemination of current research and reflections on girls' lives to a broad, cross-disciplinary audience of scholars, researchers, practitioners in the fields of education, social service, as well as health care providers and policy makers.

The journal is committed to feminist, anti-discrimination, anti-oppression approaches that bring together contributions from and initiate dialogue among perspectives ranging from medical and legal practice, ethnographic inquiry, philosophical reflection, historical investigations, literary, cultural and media research to curriculum design and policy-making. Topics to be addressed within the journal include girls and schooling, girls and feminism, girls and sexuality, girlhood in the context of Boyhood Studies, girls and new media and popular culture, representation of girls in different media, histories of girlhood, and girls and development.

ANTHROPOLOGY OF THE MIDDLE EAST

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: Soheila Shahshahani, Shahid Beheshti University, Tehran, MANAGING EDITOR: Birgit Reinel, Tübingen

Recent political events have shown an alarming lack of awareness in Western countries about life in the Middle East. Anthropologists, trained in analyzing local discourses and social actions and their socio-political and historical contexts, play an important role in making social and cultural developments in the Middle East more comprehensible to a wider world.

This important peer-reviewed journal provides a forum for scholarly exchange between anthropologists and other social scientists working in and on the Middle East. The journal's aim is to disseminate, on the basis of informed analysis and insight, a better understanding of Middle-Eastern cultures and thereby to achieve a greater appreciation of Middle-Eastern contributions to our culturally diverse world.

THE CAMBRIDGE JOURNAL OF ANTHROPOLOGY

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: Maryon McDonald, University of Cambridge

The Cambridge Journal of Anthropology is an international, peer-reviewed journal committed to publishing leading scholarship in contemporary anthropology. Geographically diverse articles provide a range of theoretical or ethical perspectives, from the traditional to the mischievous or subversive, and aim to offer new insights into the worlds in which we live. The journal will publish challenging ethnography and push hard at the boundaries of the discipline in addition to examining or incorporating fields — from economics to neuroscience — with which anthropology has long been in dialogue.

The original journal of this name was an in-house publication based at Cambridge University, with a remit to provide a space in which innovative material and ideas could be tested. The relaunched publication builds on that tradition and seeks to produce new analytical tool-kits for anthropology or to take all such intellectual exploration to task.

Published twice a year, the journal features articles and book reviews in addition to an occasional 'Reflections and Commentary' section. Proposals for special issues and review articles are also welcomed.

FOCAAL

Journal of Global and Historical Anthropology

EDITORS: Don Kalb, Central European University and Utrecht University, Sharryn Kasmir, Hofstra University, Mao Mollona, Goldsmiths College, Oscar Salemink, University of Copenhagen, Alpa Shah, London School of Economics, Gavin Smith, University of Toronto MANAGING AND LEAD EDITOR: Luisa Steur, University of Copenhagen

Focaal is a peer-reviewed journal advocating an approach that rests in the simultaneity of ethnography, processual analysis, local insights, and global vision. Seeking contributions on all world regions, Focaal is unique among anthropology journals for consistently rejecting the old separations between 'at home' and 'abroad', 'center' and 'periphery'. The journal therefore strives for the resurrection of an 'anthropology at large', that can accommodate issues of the global south, post-socialism, mobility, metropolitan experience, capitalist power and popular resistance into integrated perspectives.

JOURNEYS

The International Journal of Travel and Travel Writing

EDITORS: Maria Pia DiBella, CNRS-IRIS-EHESS, Paris and Brian Yothers, University of Texas at El Paso

Travel writing and other representations of journeys as cultural practice and product are engaging the attention of scholars and commentators in a wide range of disciplines, and their study is becoming recognized as an important academic field. The remit of Journeys is to reflect the rich diversity of travels and journeys as social and cultural practices as well as their significance as metaphorical processes. It is a broad-based interdisciplinary journal of particular importance for those interested in the study of travel writing from the perspectives of, for example, anthropology, social history, religious studies, human geography, literary criticism, and cultural studies.

LEARNING AND TEACHING

The International Journal of Higher Education in the Social Sciences

EDITORS: Penny Welch, School of Law, Social Sciences and Communication, University of Wolverhampton and Susan Wright, Danish School of Education, University of Århus

Learning and Teaching (LATISS) is a peer-reviewed journal that uses the social sciences to reflect critically on learning and teaching in the changing context of higher education. The journal invites students and staff to explore their education practices in the light of changes in their institutions, national higher education policies, the strategies of international agencies, and developments associated with the so-called international knowledge economy.

The disciplines covered include politics and international relations, anthropology, sociology, criminology, social policy, cultural studies, and educational studies. The readership spans practitioners, researchers, and students. It includes undergraduates and postgraduates interested in analyzing their experience at university, newly appointed staff taking a qualification in learning and teaching, staff members of learning and teaching units, experienced teachers in higher education, and researchers on university reform.

NATURE AND CULTURE

EDITORS: Sing C. Chew, Humboldt State University and Helmholtz Centre for Environmental Research - UFZ and Matthias Gross, Helmholtz Centre for Environmental Research - UFZ and University of Jena, MANAGING EDITOR: Jana Schoppe, Helmholtz Centre for Environmental Research - UFZ

Nature and Culture is a forum for the international community of scholars and practitioners to present, discuss, and evaluate critical issues and themes related to the historical and contemporary relationships that societies, civilizations, empires, regions, and nation-states have with Nature. The journal contains a serious interpolation of theory, methodology, criticism, and concrete observation forming the basis of this discussion. The mission of the journal is to move beyond specialized disciplinary enclaves and mind-sets toward broader syntheses that encompass time, space and structures in understanding the Nature-Culture relationship. Nature and Culture furthermore provides an outlet for the identification of knowledge gaps in our understanding of this relationship.

REGIONS AND COHESION

Regiones y Cohesión / Régions et Cohésion

EDITORS: Harlan Koff, Université du Luxembourg and Carmen Maganda, INECOL

The journal of the Consortium for Comparative Research on Regional Integration and Social Cohesion (RISC), a cross-regional, interdisciplinary, and multi-lingual network of socially conscious and prestigious research institutes in Europe, North America, South America, Africa and Asia.

Regions and Cohesion provides a needed platform for academics and practitioners alike to disseminate both empirical research and normative analysis of topics related to human and environmental security, social cohesion, and governance. It covers themes such as the management of strategic resources, environment and society, social risk and marginalization, disasters and policy responses, violence, war and urban security, the quality of democracy, development, public health, immigration, human rights, organized crime, and cross-border human security.

Interdisciplinary in nature and multi-lingual in character (English, French, Spanish), the journal promotes the comparative examination of the human and environmental impacts of various aspects of regional integration across geographic areas, time periods, and policy arenas.

SOCIAL ANALYSIS

The International Journal of Cultural and Social Practice

EDITOR: Martin Holbraad, University College London

Social Analysis is an international peer-reviewed journal devoted to exploring the analytical potentials of anthropological research. It encourages contributions grounded in original empirical research that critically probe established paradigms of social and cultural analysis. The journal expresses the best that anthropology has to offer by exploring in original ways the relationship between ethnographic materials and theoretical insight. By forging creative and critical engagements with cultural, political, and social processes, it also opens new avenues of communication between anthropology and the humanities as well as other social sciences.

TRANSFERS

Interdisciplinary Journal of Mobility Studies

CHIEF EDITOR: Gijs Mom, Eindhoven University of Technology

Transfers is a peer-reviewed journal publishing cutting-edge research on the processes, structures, and consequences of the movement of people, resources, and commodities. Intellectually rigorous, broad ranging, and conceptually innovative, the journal combines the empiricism of traditional mobility history with more recent methodological approaches from the social sciences and the humanities. The journal's scholarly essays, book and exhibit reviews, artwork and photography, and special features provide a rich variety of perspectives that include: analyses of the past and present experiences of vehicle drivers, passengers, pedestrians, migrants, and refugees; accounts of the arrival and transformation of mobility in different nations and locales; and investigations of the kinetic processes of global capital, technology, chemical and biological substances, images, narratives, sounds, and ideas.

CONFLICT AND SOCIETY

EDITORIAL TEAM: Erella Grassiani, University of Amsterdam, Alexander Horstmann, Tallinn University, Lotte Buch Segal, University of Copenhagen, Ronald S. Stade, Malmö University, and Henrik Vigh, University of Copenhagen

Organized violence — war, armed revolt, genocide, lynching, targeted killings, torture, routine discrimination, terrorism, trauma and suffering — is a daily reality for some while for others it is a sound bite or news clip seen in passing and easily forgotten. Rigorous scholarly research of the social and cultural conditions of organized violence, its genesis, dynamic, and impact, is fundamental to addressing questions of local and global conflict and its impact on the human condition.

Publishing peer-reviewed articles by international scholars, Conflict and Society expands the field of conflict studies by using ethnographic inquiry to establish new fields of research and interdisciplinary collaboration. An opening special section presents articles devoted to a topic or region followed by a section featuring conceptual debates on key problems in the study of organized violence. Review articles and topical overviews offer navigational assistance across the vast and varied terrain of conflict research and comprehensive reviews of new books round out each volume. With special attention paid to ongoing debates on the politics and ethics of conflict studies research, including military-academic cooperation, Conflict and Society will be an essential forum for scholars, researchers, and policy makers in the fields of anthropology, sociology, political science, and development studies.

ENVIRONMENT AND SOCIETY

EDITORS: Paige West, Barnard College, Columbia University and Dan Brockington, University of Sheffield

Environment and Society publishes critical reviews of the latest research literature on environmental studies, including subjects of theoretical, methodological, substantive, and applied significance. Articles also survey the literature regionally and thematically and reflect the work of anthropologists, geographers, environmental scientists, and human ecologists from all parts of the world in order to internationalize the conversations within environmental anthropology, environmental geography, and other environmentally oriented social sciences. The publication appeals to academic, research and policy-making audiences.

RELIGION AND SOCIETY

EDITORS: Ruy Llera Blanes, University of Bergen, and Institute of Social Sciences, Lisbon, Simon Coleman, University of Toronto, Sondra L. Hausner, University of Oxford

Religion and Society responds to the need for a rigorous, in-depth review of current work in the expanding sub-discipline of the anthropology of religion. In addition, this important annual aims to provide a dynamic snapshot of developments in the study of religion as a whole and encourages inter-disciplinary perspectives. Each issue contains a profile of a senior scholar of religion, alongside invited papers produced by authorities in their respective sub-fields.

The contributions provide overviews of a given topic with critical, "positioned" views of the subject and of relevant research. In the "Debate Topic" section a scholar of religion reflects on a high profile issue or event and a "Reflections on a Text" feature invite discussants to comment on a recently published volume, followed by a response from the author. Other sections cover teaching the anthropology of religion, news and conferences, and—vitality—reviews of new books and ethnographic films.
