
Contents

Foreword Allan Lavell	ix
Acknowledgments	xiii
List of Abbreviations	xv
Chronology. Stakeholder Statements on Disaster, Development, and the Built Environment	xviii
Introduction	1
Part I. We Got Here for a Reason
Chapter 1. Linkage between Disaster and Development	13
Chapter 2. Deliberate Actions and Debilitating Outcomes— Gaps Appear	25
Chapter 3. What Development Has Brought and Disaster Wrought	38
Chapter 4. Understanding Where the Disaster-Development Link Leads	52
Chapter 5. Disaster-Development Linkage through the Lens of Disaster Recovery	64
Chapter 6. Continuity in the Name of Constituents	78
Part II. Once and Future Disaster Risk Reduction
Chapter 7. Redefining Disaster Risk Reduction in Development of the Built Environment	91

Chapter 8. Making Risk Information Visible	107
Chapter 9. Risk within Present and Emerging Economic Development Forces	118
Part III. Disaster Risk Reduction Will Be What It Is Conceived to Be
Chapter 10. Sustaining Nature of Disaster-Development Linkage	135
Chapter 11. Climate Change Adaptation and Disaster Risk Reduction in Development	149
Part IV. They Who Call the Tune
Chapter 12. Built Environment Vulnerability and Development Processes	165
Chapter 13. Monitoring, Evaluation, Reporting, Regulation, and Enforcement	178
Chapter 14. Policy Guidance on Disaster Risk Reduction Taken to Development	195
Chapter 15. What Has Been Found about the Future: Changes That Change Positions	207
Conclusion	222
Glossary	235
References	241
Index	249