

CONTENTS

List of Tables	vi
Foreword. What Was the Plan? And What Was It Meant to Do? Don Kalb	vii
Acknowledgements	xii
Introduction	1
I. PRIMITIVE SOCIALIST ACCUMULATION IN CLUJ
1 Productive State Apparatuses: Taking Over the Factories, 1944–1948	37
2 ‘More Precious Than Gold’: Labour Instability and the ‘Stickiness’ of Everyday Life	75
3 ‘Workers’, ‘Proletarians’ and the Struggle for Cheap Labour	109
II. TIME AND ACCUMULATION ON THE SHOP FLOOR
4 ‘Hidden Reserves of Productivity’ and the Quest for Knowledge	147
5 Productive Flows and Factory Discipline	178
6 Planned Heroism and Nonsynchronicity on the Shop Floor	204
Epilogue. Really Existing Socialism as Nonsynchronicity	228
Bibliography	235
Index	243