

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
Preface	xi
Abbreviations	xii

Introduction. Transformation of the Transformation? The Middle-Income Trap and the Search for a New Development Strategy in the Post-Communist States of Central and Eastern Europe	1
Yaman Kouli and Uwe Müller

Part I. Historical Legacies

Chapter 1. Poland's Communist Heritage and Its Impact on Post-1990 Economic Development	25
Yaman Kouli
Chapter 2. Institutional Development and Growth as Outputs of Early Transition Policies	54
Tal Kadayer

Part II. Development Strategies on the Economic, Entrepreneurial and Individual Level

Chapter 3. The Middle-Income Trap and Its Narrow Escape Hatches: Dependent Development and FDI-Led Growth in Romania	97
Cornel Ban and Zoltán Mihály
Chapter 4. Between Domestic Entrepreneurship and Global Technology Chains: Upgrading Paths of Two Large IT Firms from Poland	122
Grzegorz Lechowski
Chapter 5. The Value of Return Migration: The Case of Bulgaria	143
Birgit Glorius

Part III. The Impact of European Integration

Chapter 6. The Winners and Losers of Economic Openness: Eastern Europe's Growth Path Post-1989 Kiril Kossev	169
Chapter 7. Developmentalist Illusion? EU Cohesion Policy, Dependent Development and the State in East Central Europe Daniel Šitera	204
Chapter 8. East-Central Europe: The Eternal Periphery of the EU? Christian Schweiger	231
Chapter 9. Cohesion Policy for Escaping the Middle-Income Trap Andrea Filippetti and Raffaele Spallone	254
Conclusion and Outlook Uwe Müller	281
Index	287