

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgments	x
Introduction: Decentering Anthropology, by way of Malinowski Chandana Mathur and Dorothy L. Zinn	1
Part I: In the Wake of Bronisław Malinowski
Chapter 1: The Center as an Intersection: Following the Malinowski–Masson Collaboration Daniela Salvucci	23
Chapter 2: Magic’s Transference for National Invented Traditions: Malinowski in Mexico (and Oaxaca) Ricardo F. Macip	40
Chapter 3: Gardens in Connections: Plants, Ethnography, and Malinowski’s Legacy Davide Cacchioni	57
Chapter 4: Malinowski, Kenyatta, and Anthropology in Kenya’s Nation Building Isaac K. Nyamongo	75
Chapter 5: A Notorious Diarist—Bronisław Malinowski and His Sinful Publics: Polish Editor’s Remarks Grażyna Kubica	95
Part II: Decentering Malinowski, Decentering Anthropology
Chapter 6: After the “Diary in a Queer Sense of the Term”: Anxious Borders between Works and Lives in Anthropology Today Thomas Strong	123

Contents

Chapter 7: Decolonizing Archival Description: Reviewing Problematic Language in the Malinowski Collection Emma Pizarro	137
Chapter 8: Rupture and Social Isolation in Ireland's Asylum System: A Personal Reflection Abayomi Ogunsanya	151
Chapter 9: Un-disciplining the "Native": Decolonizing and Disrupting Alterity in Anthropology Joy Owen	173
Afterword: Ambivalence: Between Malinowski's Two Anthropological Worlds Michał Buchowski	196
Index	211