

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	xi
List of Abbreviations	xiii
Acknowledgments	xv
Introduction. Raul Hilberg: Life, Work, and Memory—Some Introductory Reflections René Schlott and Wulf Kansteiner	1
Part I. The Destruction as Text: Evolution, Rhetoric, Aesthetics, and Blind Spots	25
1. Revisiting Hilberg’s Conceptual Model of the Development of The Destruction of the European Jews Dan Michman	27
2. Emigration and Expropriation in Raul Hilberg’s Work, The Destruction of the European Jews Peter Klein	62
3. Law and History: Raul Hilberg, the Nuremberg Trial Documents, and Narrative Legacies of the “Final Solution” Hilary Earl	78
4. Raul Hilberg and the Discussion Around the Führerbefehl Jürgen Matthäus	114
5. “Much is Unsaid”: Women in the Life and Work of Raul Hilberg Doris L. Bergen	131

Contents

6. “I Was Determined to Work on this Topic”: An Unpublished Interview with Raul Hilberg 1992 Evelyn Adunka	157
7. Inside the Written Items: On the Laconism of Raul Hilberg Nicolas Berg	163
8. On the Moral Imprecision of Irony: Raul Hilberg’s Machinery of Destruction Wulf Kansteiner	192
Conclusion I. Strengths, Weaknesses, and Blind Spots: The Work of Raul Hilberg in Historiographical Perspective Olof Bortz	218
Part II. Hilberg and Holocaust Historiography	229
9. After Destruction : Assessing Hilberg’s Mid-Career Scholarship Christopher R. Browning	231
10. Raul Hilberg and the Perpetrator Documents Susanne Heim	254
11. Precision, Severity, and Seriousness: Raul Hilberg’s Significance for Holocaust Research Sybille Steinbacher	269
12. Raul Hilberg, the Term Holocaust, and the Conferences from San José to Stuttgart Magnus Brechtken	287
13. Franz Neumann’s Behemoth and the Beginnings of Holocaust Research with Raul Hilberg Alfons Söllner	320
14. Two Different Fathers of Holocaust Research: Raul Hilberg and Philip Friedman Elisabeth Gallas	342

Contents

15. “Over and Over, She Returns Like a Ghost”: Reflections on the Conflict Between Hannah Arendt and Raul Hilberg Anna Corsten	374
Conclusion II. Raul Hilberg as a “First Mover” Peter Hayes	395
Index	409